D.O.No.F.AIU/RES/QASPIR/2020

March 23, 2020

Dear Vice Chancellor/Director,

Greetings from AIU!

As a strategy for preparing Faculty Members to be equipped with skills of dealing with unforeseen challenges such as one we are facing today in the name of COVID-19, Quality Assurance Strategic Planning Institutional Research (QASPIR), an International Consultancy Specialising in Quality Assurance, Program Accreditation, and Student Success based in United Kingdom, is organizing an Online Workshop - Online Learning for Faculty: what you need to know and prepare for a successful transition of your curriculum at 9.00 a.m on March 31, 2020. The Workshop aims to provide training to the faculty members to deliver/transact Curriculum online. The Workshop will be executed through Livestorm Webinar by using a special Learning Management System (LMS) software for supporting the learners with workshop materials and engage them meaningfully.

As a response to the call of QASPIR seeking AIU Collaboration in disseminating information to member universities, we circulate this information. This is an opportunity to acquire the knowledge and skills of delivering the curriculum online, especially during a time when normal transaction of curriculum is affected due to some unavoidable circumstance. The details of the Workshop can be accessed from the Website: <https://qaspir.com/online-learning-workshop/>. The Workshop is based on following three critical components:

- Planning for Online Delivery
- Student Engagement for Online Learning
- Evaluating and Assessing Online Learning

The Universities/Higher Education Institutions are requested to give it wider publicity and inform their interested faculty members to register through the aforementioned website.

With kind regards,

Yours sincerely,

(Pankaj Mittal)

The Vice Chancellors/Directors of Member Universities.
